1. Author(s) warrant that they are the sole creators and/or owners of all copyrights in the work and have the exclusive right to use, copy, distribute, and transfer the work without limitation.

2. Author(s) have full and sole power to enter into this agreement and that this agreement does not infringe on the rights of any third party.

3. Author(s) warrant that the work has not been published before and that it is not under consideration for publication by any other source. The work contains no matter that is libelous or otherwise contrary to law.

4. When CERL accepts the work for publication, and for good and valuable consideration, authors irrevocably assign and transfer to CERL all of the author(s)' right, title, and interest in the work.

5. CERL and the author(s) agree to publish the work no later than 21 days after signing this agreement, unless otherwise agreed by the parties.

6. Author(s) understand that their submitted work will be reviewed by CERL and may be edited, including the title, as a condition of publication. CERL will notify authors of all proposed edits for approval before publication.

7. Author(s) respect all deadlines discussed as part of the editorial process.

8. Author(s) understand that if their work is not published within one month of signing this agreement, authors may retract their work and be released from this agreement, provided that authors did not contribute to the delay for failing to meet CERL's requested deadlines.

9. Author(s) are free to distribute The Rule of Law Post link to the work. To reproduce and distribute for professional use in any other way, electronically or in print, authors agree to display in the work: "Reprinted with permission from the Center for Ethics and the Rule of Law (CERL)."

10. Author(s) consent to the execution and delivery of this agreement electronically and agree that an electronic signature shall be given the same legal force as a handwritten signature.
